To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to recommend Victoria Sublette, whom I worked with at Apple Computer in the Developer Services group from July 1988 - March 1989 . We collaborated on a database that tracks Apple Computer's third party developers.

Victoria was an enthusiastic, efficient, and conscientious worker at Apple. When problems occurred, she would work as long as necessary (sometimes past midnight) to get the database up and running. Because of her extensive knowledge of Macintosh system and application software, she went far beyond her job description and ended up doing software, hardware, network, and general support for the forty+ people in her group.

Vickie is a pleasure to work with. She has initiative, very good technical and personal skills, and learns readily. I recommend her highly to any high-tech company who needs a capable, responsible, and energetic person on their team.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me at (408) 974-0281, or AppleLink: VENTER.

Sincerely,
